About Community Partnership for Children

Community Partnership for Children cares for over 1,200 children each year who have been victims of abuse or neglect. We partner with providers and local citizens to restore families and connect children with loving homes. Since 2001, Community Partnership for Children has been the lead agency selected to serve Volusia, Flagler and Putnam Counties. Under the community-based care initiative, child protective services are transitioned to local providers and directed by the lead agency and community alliances of stakeholders. Through the efforts and involvement of our partners and the community, we are able to keep children safe and build strong families.
